CELEBRATE THE ARTS

Arts Department Vision Statement

The goal of the Fine and Performing Arts is to foster students' arts education in a positive and productive atmosphere. We encourage both creativity and critical thinking while expecting artistic excellence and self-discovery. We strive to develop the whole child through enjoyment, exploration, and understanding of art, music, and theater. While developing this sense of artistic fluency, students learn multiple models of self-expression and cultivate their role in an ever-changing cultural environment; they learn that the Arts are an essential and enduring part of the global human experience.

"My favorite memories of all are standing in the theatre lobby after a show and seeing the pride and joy on the faces of the cast and crew as they greeted their friends and families."

Welcome to the Susan Neal Theatre Lobby

Susan began her career at Columbus Academy in 1994 and immediately immersed herself in the life of the school serving as a kindergarten assistant, seventh grade music teacher, director of the middle school musical and even middle school assistant field hockey coach. During the following 21 years, she also taught language arts, drama, step and stomp, study skills and creative expressions.

Susan's work at Columbus Academy was characterized by her exuberance, her love for her students and her total commitment to the arts. Her singing talents and stage presence, coupled with her fun personality and ability to laugh at herself, made her performances a highlight of school talent shows. For many middle school students, a birthday song by Susan was a rite of passage, and her operatic version often echoed through the dining hall—sometimes multiple times during the same lunch period.

Under Susan's direction, the middle school theatre program performances thrived and were standing-room-only events. For over two decades, she not only introduced Academy students to theatre arts but also helped them blossom into talented performers.

Susan is survived by her beloved husband Scott, also an Academy teacher, and the families of their daughters Jennifer Neal Bardavid '97 and Miranda Krysty '99, who were all by her side during her final days.

*Dedicated in memory of Susan Jean Neal

"I was adamant about having a natural look that would fit my petite stature. A friend told me about Dr. Donaldson and I was so impressed when I got to meet him. He was warm, professional and I absolutely loved his staff. The morning of the surgery I was nervous, but everyone was comforting and reassuring."

Schoedinger Theatre Renovations

Renovations to Schoedinger Theatre at Columbus Academy were completed in the fall of 2019 after the initial plan to update the facility was announced in September 2018 by Head of School Melissa Soderberg. Schoedinger Theatre now features a balcony which helped increase overall seating capacity to around 550 (about 100 more seats than the original theatre), all new seats throughout, and improved lighting and sound, complete with acoustical panels.

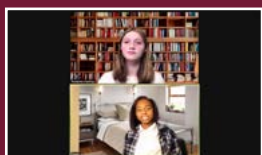

“All of these additions provide the kind of professional aesthetic and auditory experience our students of all ages deserve while maintaining the intimacy desired by our performing arts faculty.” – Melissa Soderberg, Head of School

We hope you get to experience and enjoy the new features and seating at one of our future performing arts events!

Starting at age three, Columbus Academy students in our Lower School run, play, think and grow, exploring every inch of our 231-acre campus. Spacious classrooms — indoors and out — and daily health protocols provide a safe and energetic learning environment.

"The Academy experience has radiated through Jack these first few weeks. He has a strong connection with his teacher, and bounces into school each morning ... with an energy and passion around school that I have never seen in him."

— Sarah B, Kindergarten parent, Fall 2020
