2025-26 SCHOOL YEAR

Dear Columbus Academy Families,

Welcome to the 4th edition School and Field Guide – a nod to the past (see description below) and a script for the present – which helps us continue the work of building community among parents, students, faculty and staff that we rely on so much throughout the year.

Inside is both a directory of school families and an insider's guide to life at Columbus Academy – including commonly used "CA" terms, daily schedule outlines, and tips about student dropoff and pickup. Starting a new year at school is filled with excitement – but also questions about whom to call and how to reach each other. We hope you enjoy this printed reference for the year ahead.

I can't wait to see each of you at school and in our fields!

Sincerely,

Melissa Soderberg P '18 '20
Head of School

The name is influenced by Columbus Academy's oldest publication, School and Field, which was first published in 1914. Originally developed as a vehicle for creative writing, the original cover of School and Field was designed by one of the most popular teachers at the time, Albert Field. School and Field existed until 1935 and, over the years, became a source for school information such as course offerings, tuition rates, sports rosters and other important details for Academy families.

This revitalized School and Field Guide will help educate families across all divisions about Academy traditions, important dates, how to get connected, who to know on campus and much more. We hope this publication provides information needed to help guide families in the Columbus Academy community!
