MMXXI NO. 1

CONGRATULATIONS, CLASS OF 2021

(Courtesy/Dr. Andy Morris)

FOUR YEARS: THANK YOU, ACADEMY

We began our newspaper journey four years ago in our zero-period journalism class. Writing articles connected us with our classmates and faculty, learning about their contributions and sharing them with the Academy community.

Charlie Sabgir and Andrew Cahall showed us how politics should be discussed with respect. Aden Weiser trained us to cover sports in a way that made us feel like we were on the sidelines—and above all—that a team is an “it.” Arts and entertainment took on new meanings for us as we featured the work our classmates created and performed. From food reviews to overdoing it with Survivor reviews, we loved taking on these passion projects.

We have celebrated our athletes and raised flags for championships, applauded winners of gold and silver awards, and engaged in helping those in need within our greater community through the Service Board.

Slowly, we transitioned from writers to editors, taking the place of our former peers whom we admired. Working for The Academy Life taught us the value of honest information and the power it holds in our daily lives.

As we leave these beloved walls, ready to engage with the outside world and take our individual perspectives to our college campuses and future career paths, we do so with a sense of openness and curiosity. And we are grateful to take all aspects of the Academy community who influenced us into becoming who we are today.

Vaughn Armour, Sarah Silver, Josh Tu, Regan Cornelius
(Henry Rubey'22/Staff)

We can't wait to keep up with Academy's news and watch everything our talented staff continues to accomplish.

Thank you,
Vaughn, Regan, Sarah, and Josh
